The British Association for South Asian Studies is delighted to announce that the Call for Submissions for submissions for the 2019 prize for an outstanding master’s dissertation on a South Asia-related topic is now open. We welcome submissions based on original research in any discipline of the arts, humanities, or social sciences. Judges will pay particular attention to the quality of research, understanding of the topic and field, originality, presentation, and methodological rigour. The interdisciplinary judging panel will be normally drawn from members of the BASAS Executive Council.

The successful candidate will be awarded a prize of £150 and a one-year membership to BASAS. The winning candidate will also receive a complimentary registration to the BASAS Annual Conference 2020, where they will be encouraged to present a paper on their research. An edited version of the prize-winning dissertation will be considered for publication in one of the BASAS-affiliated journals, Contemporary South Asia or South Asian Studies (subjected to editorial consideration and peer review).

The deadline for applications is midnight on 1st December 2019.

How to apply:

- Complete the attached form along with a PDF of the dissertation and any essential appendices.
- Supervisors and other departmental staff are encouraged to recommend their students apply, but all submissions must come from the students themselves.
- Please send submissions, or any queries, to the BASAS Assistant Secretary, Grahame Smith-basas@basas.org.uk

Eligibility:

- Dissertations on any topic relating to South Asia and its diaspora, up to 20,000 words.
- Dissertations submitted in fulfilment of an MA/MSc/MPhil degree undertaken at a UK institution during the academic year 2018-19.
